ANDERSON BRANDS STORY OF WITHDRAWAL FALSE

Bank Commissioner's Campaign Managers Say 2200 Names Already Secured to Petition in Alameda County

Managers for Nathaniel Ellery are now claiming that Governor Gillett is an ardent supporter of their candidate. This amuses many of those who remember the things the governor said at the time the name of Ellery was first brought out in connection with the race. The basis of the claims now made are confined to a communication which Governor Gillett sent to the Pacific Motor. The letter follows:

"Dear Sir:—Your letter of February 17th at hand, and am pleased to note that you intend to make every issue of the Pacific Motor a Good Roads issue between now and before the election. I feel quite confident from the work that is being done that the Good Roads proposition will carry by a fine vote; still the matter is one of such importance that we cannot not very safely say that we believe that everything is all right, but there must be a united effort on the part of everybody who believes in Good Roads to bring about the much desired results."

"I feel satisfied that we will be able to get a good man who will take this work up and see it completed. What we want is a good, safe, conservative business man to take charge of this matter, and I feel that such a man will be presented to the voters of this State before long where such matters are governed."

LETTER IS AMBIGUOUS.

In view of the fact that weeks ago Governor Gillett in commenting on the candidacy of Ellery said that he had heard nothing about it and the fact of others at the same time stating that Ellery's campaign was a joke sort of spoils the present claims. On the other hand the letter, it is pointed out, reads as much for Ellery as it does for Gillett, for it is recognized that the work and labors of Anderson have always been in the line of good roads and he is known to have been interested in the project since the governor himself, who has made a hobby of this subject.

There is a new candidate for the toga of Senator Pitt in the south. Since yesterday there have been many statements that Bradner W. Lee, an attorney and politician, is mentioned as the man on whom the south may unite. Lee has been a leader in Los Angeles for a long time, but the know-nothing does not take any great hopes from this rumor. Judge J. W. McKinley is also among those mentioned as a likely candidate.

Charles F. McDonald of Los Angeles, the candidate for the Republican nomination for state printer, is in the northern sections now in the interests of his candidacy. He spent yesterday in San Francisco and is expected to spend several days in this city talking to friends and soliciting votes. He says he will get fully 75 per cent of the votes of the southern part of the state, while the re-

FEAR ANARCHISTS ARE AFTER LIFE OF ALFONSO

Bomb Hurling at Monument Is Believed to Have Been Intended for King.

CHANGE PLANS FOR RETURN OF MONARCH

South American Caught in Act Commits Suicide Before He Is Arrested.

MADRID, May 24.—Following a night of search and inquiry the police believe today that the bomb exploded last night was intended for King Alfonso.

The explosive was hurled at the monument erected to the victims of the attempt against his majesty on his wedding day, May 31, 1902, but the authorities think the original intention of the anarchist was to strike down the king on his arrival at the railway station on his return from London.

As a result of this conviction, the plans for King Alfonso's return have been changed and it is now arranged for him to enter the city by automobile.

SOUTH AMERICAN.

The bomb thrower who was wounded by his own weapon proved to have been a South American.

Like Manuel Morales, who was believed to have headed the conspiracy against the king four years ago, the South American committed suicide when he found his capture by the police was imminent.

LISBON, May 24.—

The government is awaiting the completion of the statement made by an anarchist named Ramires, made by taking action against those named as the conspirators in the assassination of King Carlos and Crown Prince Luis in 1908.

Ramires escaped to Brazil following the assassination, but was recently arrested and brought back here. Subsequently he made a confession and gave to the police the names of 1,148 people who he said shared in the conspiracy.

Mohawk Council Will Hold Whist Tourney

BERKLEY, May 24.—Redner and Daughters of Deochants tomorrow night at Native Sons' hall under the auspices of Mohawk Council No. 23. Elaborate preparations have been made for the affair, the arrangements for the tournament being in the hands of a committee comprising Miss E. Castro (chairman), Miss Phyllis Gray, Mrs. R. L. and Miss Ruth Crossfield.

Entered an endorsement from the committee.

Ralph McLean, speaking for his brother-in-law, Judge Church of Fresno, said that his petition would be handled independently of the committee.

Judge Raker has resigned as chairman of the state committee so as to give all of his time to his canvass in all of the First district. A committee consisting of Theodore Bell, Thomas F. Gibson and A. L. Howell was appointed to draft resolutions praising the work that Raker has done for his party during his term as chief executive of the party council. R. H. De Witt of Shastaville was appointed to succeed Raker as chairman.

: Divorces in the News Today : ASKED WIFE TO DROWN TO MAKE SPOUSE HAPPY, SHE TELLS DIVORCE JUDGE

Mrs. Campbell Recites Tale of Cruelty; Herman Norden Didn't Want 'Church Member' for Companion

Nellie Leona Campbell, of 120 Chase street left Charles Givings Campbell on the 15th day of last January, according to her testimony in her suit for a divorce, which has resulted in her obtaining an interlocutory decree, because her husband threatened to break her neck. This was the culmination of bitter quarrels in which fights were frequent and charges and counter-charges of infidelity were made.

Mrs. Campbell's tale of woe included a conversation which she had with her husband just before Christmas, 1909, with reference to presents. Campbell asked her to get a Christmas present for him and when she asked him what it should be he said, according to her testimony:

"Will you give me what I want?" asked Campbell.

"If I have the money," replied the wife.

"It will only cost you a nickel to take a car to the bay and jump overboard," retorted Campbell, "and if you will do that it will be the happiest Christmas of my life."

Mrs. Campbell said that Campbell had been caught kneeling on the floor and affectionately holding the hand of a young man who roomed at his mother's home in San Francisco, and that she had held clandestine meetings with an alleged lover in Redmont Park, but these things the wife indignantly denied.

The husband charged that his wife had been caught kneeling on the floor and affectionately holding the hand of a young man who roomed at his mother's home in San Francisco, and that she had held clandestine meetings with an alleged lover in Redmont Park, but these things the wife indignantly denied.

Beat Her With Chair

Mary E. Norden of 2110 Clinton avenue, Alameda, has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce in the Superior Court from Herman Norden, on the ground of extreme cruelty. The wife charged that Norden called her a "dirty old church member" and on one occasion beat her over the head with a chair because she objected to his scattering shavings over the dining-room carpet after she had slept. Once Norden gave her such a terrible beating that Mrs. Norden was compelled to have him arrested. He was found guilty in the Police Court of battery and sent to prison for ninety days.

"In spite of all my husband's brutality I still wanted to live with him," testified Mrs. Norden, "and took my troubles to God in prayer, but it availed nothing. There was no hope for his reformation and finally I had to apply for a divorce."

The proceedings were the end of a marital experience that covered a period of seventeen years.

Liked Other Fellow Better

Walter High of 1837 Parker street, Berkeley, has been granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Superior Judge Harris from Myrtle B. High, on the grounds of desertion. The couple were married in Fresno in 1903 and two years later Mrs. High told her husband one day that she wanted nothing more to do with him, because she thought more of another fellow than she did of him and "got up and left."

LEAGUE ELECTS TAFT AS HEAD

BOSTON, May 24.—At a meeting of the National League of Unitarian-Universalists today the following President was elected by acclamation: Theodore Tilton, Secretary: Burdette.

"My Dear Mr. Burdette: In accepting for another year the position of honorary president of the National League of Unitarian-Universalists, I am glad to accept my share of responsibility, involving upon the laymen, not only of our own church, but of all the churches, as well as upon the religious and ethical principles, to uphold the religious and ethical principles of the church and to apply these principles to the solution of the civic, social and industrial problems that today are confronting our country."

Back to the church and kindred organizations for the preservation of these ideals, and we should have every instrumentality which is adapted for their promulgation.

"One of the most pleasing signs of the times is the rise of organizations within the church by which earnest men combine for the purpose of increasing the strength of the church as a body, making it a power for the advancement of social conditions and carrying its message into all lands. By such organizations, properly directed, can the ideals for which we stand, such as charity, forgiveness, and righteousness and human brotherhood, be applied to the working out of our national destiny."

"Sincerely yours,"

WM. H. TAFT.

Janitor Duffy Makes Demand for Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—Judge Charles Patrick, counsel for Peter M. Duffy, the city hall janitor indicted for perjury, announced himself as ready for trial, and demanded a speedy hearing at the calling of the case in Judge Lawler's court today.

Attorney Berry, who appeared for the prosecution, declared that the files of the district attorney's office did not disclose any evidence in connection with that particular matter and also affirmed that he had not had an opportunity to investigate it.

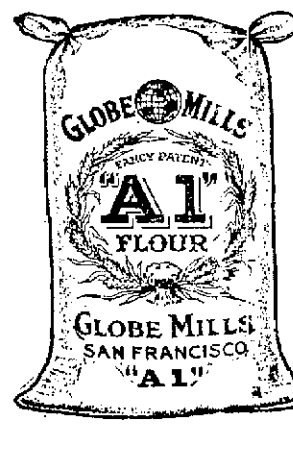

Accordingly, over the objection of the defense, the case was continued for four weeks. Duffy is charged with perjury for a grand jury in connection with the indictment of Ferdinand P. Nichols for embezzling $28 in a furniture deal.

Fourteen-year-old Girl Says Miss Maggie Man Promised Trouble.

Reunion to Bring Out Strong Representation—Parade to Be Feature.

Fourteen-year-old Hazel Mann gave some sensational testimony yesterday afternoon in Judge Blawie's department of the Superior Court, at the trial of the suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Annie Waterman against Miss Maggie Mann, to whom she is not related, declaring that the defendant had twice threatened to take her life if she appeared against her in the case.

"I will shoot you out of the witness chair if you testify against me," Hazel told the court. Miss Mann had warned her on the street last Saturday, and again the same day over the telephone. The alleged threat did not prevent the girl from appearing as a witness, however, nor did it prevent her from telling the court what she knew of the accusations of Miss Mann.

The proceedings were the end of a marital experience that covered a period of seventeen years.

Wilson Near End of Fortieth Year in Police Department

SUPERINTENDENT OF POLICE WILSON, who has served forty years in the Police Department. —Bushnell, Photo

Superintendent of Police Adelbert Wilson will have been a member of the police department of the City of Oakland, forty years on the 20th day of this month. The service stripes on the sleeves of his uniform now number seven, each one representing five years of service to the city. The eighth stripe will soon be added.

Wilson's rise in the police department of the city is a striking example of the certainty of reward for merit and efficiency. His work has been conscientious and productive of the best results. His record has been clean and he has never in his long career been in the police department of Oakland, when he was a few months older than 25 years.

On August 22, 1883, he was appointed a Sergeant and continued in this position for six years, when on May 7, 1889 he was made Captain. It was in this position, which he held for seventeen years, that he became known throughout the city.

CREATE POSITION.

On January 2, 1906, the board of police commissioners of the city appointed Captain Wilson, chief of the police department and that position he held until April 6, of this year, when in order to raise his salary and pay him what his efficient work in the department warranted, he was raised to the position of Superintendent of Police, a position created by the commission.

During the four years Superintendent Wilson has been at the head of the police department of Oakland, the force has been free from criticism. Superintendent Wilson is responsible for this and is a man who holds in defense of the right and persecution of the wrong, and his kindness and consideration for the men under his command, that he has raised himself to the position which he now holds. He is a man of the highest character and deep interest in his men, who are themselves fearless and energetic in following the orders which emanate from his "sanctum sanctorum" in the city hall.

Superintendent Wilson was born in Camden, Maine, January 5, 1844. On May 30, 1870 he was appointed a special officer in the police department of Oakland, when he was a few months older than 25 years. He was made a regular officer and served almost nine years in the rank. During this period he gained a reputation for energy and vigilance and was praised by the police commissioners for his efficiency.

BROTHER CAUSES BROTHER'S ARREST

MELROSE, May 24.—Asserting that his brother, Edwin McGuire, had done his mother bodily harm if not taken into custody, William McGuire, an attorney of 2301 Forty-sixth avenue, last night applied at the Melrose police station for his brother's arrest. Officer Anderson was detailed and the young man, who is a dentist, ran into the house upon the approach of the officer and dared him to enter.

Anderson made the arrest and McGuire was taken to the Oakland city prison, where he is held on a charge of disturbing the peace. William McGuire says that his brother claims a share of the estate left by their father, who died recently, although he was not included in the will. He declares that his brother had made a number of threats against the life of his mother and himself on account of the dispute over the estate.

Failure to Provide Is Cause of Divorce

Failure to provide is the ground upon which Elsie M. Reid was granted a final decree of divorce today in the superior court from George Reid. She resides at 1628 Stanton street, Alameda.

The couple were married in the Federal City in October, 1901, and separated two years afterward in December. At that time they were living in Pinole and Mrs. Reid came to Alameda to spend Christmas with her mother, Reid giving her 10 cents to travel on and promising that he would join her the next day and bring more.

Instead of doing so he left her stranded at her mother's home and transferred his residence to San Francisco. This broke up the marital relations.

Way Down South in the Land of Cotton

The South may well lay claim to the title "Land of Cotton." In the southern part of the United States nearly fourteen million bales of cotton are produced each year, out of a total world crop of twenty million bales.

The production of Cotton Seed Oil shows even a larger percentage in favor of the South, as methods of extracting and crushing the seed are more perfect in the South than in the North.

Lead is in origin, unobtainable in method of manufacture uncertain and often unsatisfactory. It is as clean and wholesome and pure as the far famed hospitality of the "Home of the South."

LAUNDRIES WOULD TEST ORDINANCE

Threaten to Bring Suit in the Superior Court to Try Out License.

Following in the steps of the undertakers of the city the laundries of Oakland now threaten to fight the ordinance which provides that they pay a license of $10 a quarter. For more than a year, during which time the undertakers have not a test case in the Superior Court, the laundries have refused to pay the license. Judge Everett J. Brown, who issued a writ of habeas corpus in the case which upheld the ordinance, and the undertakers have finally decided to comply with the law and are paying the license.

Now, according to city license inspector W. A. J. Felt, the laundries claim that the ordinance is so far removed from them that they can be compelled to pay the license. Brown's decision does not legalize the ordinance in their eyes. They threaten to put a test case in the Superior Court.

Prosecuting Attorney Ezra Dowd has sent communications to the laundries asking them to appear in his office tomorrow morning and show cause why they should not pay the license required by the ordinance.

Judge Raker as a Politician.

Hon. John E. Raker, Superior Judge of Modoc county, has resigned the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee, a position he has held for nearly two years past as a deputy for Theodore Bell, that he may devote his entire attention to running for Congress in the First District. He should have first resigned from the bench—indeed, he should have resigned the Superior Judgeship when he accepted the position of campaign manager for a political party. It is incompatible with the dignity of the judicial office for a magistrate to be so active in partisan politics as Judge Raker has been.

It is true there is not enough litigation in Modoc county to keep Judge Raker busy, but that is no reason why he should devote all his spare time to the activities of politics. It is his right as an American citizen to run for Congress or any office that catches his fancy, but the framers of the State Constitution clearly indicated that they did not deem it proper for a judge on the bench to run for political office.

As a general rule the principle laid down in the Constitution has been respected, but Judge Raker pays no heed to it. Possibly he has never read the organic law of the State. Had he been acquainted with that document he would hardly have taken upon himself the duties of campaign manager while occupying a seat on the Superior Bench. He resigns the chairmanship now because, being a candidate for Congress, he will have no time to devote to the Democratic State Committee.

But what about the judicial office he holds? Will he suspend the business of his court while he goes around seeking votes?

The Sugar Trust's Robbery.

It has been developed in the trial of the sugar fraud cases that the government has been systematically swindled for the past twenty-five years by false weighing of sugar in the New York custom house. The sugar trust was the direct beneficiary of these frauds, and has admitted its liability by paying the government several millions in settlement. The false weighing was done by minor employees of the trust with the complicity of petty subordinates in the custom house. It appears that the participants in the weighing frauds were given extra pay surreptitiously by the pay officer of the sugar trust. There must have been some system of accounting by which the rewards for crime were audited, hence the conclusion is irresistible that there was some understanding among the higher officials of the sugar trust. It is incredible that minor employees should have conspired to defraud the government unknown to their superiors. There was undoubtedly a higher authority and a higher intelligence directing the whole miserable business, and some method by which account was kept of the fraudulent weighing, for there was a system in awarding the wages for the thefts which clearly indicates knowledge among the higher officials of what was going on. The higher officials undoubtedly had some way of determining the difference between the actual weights of the sugar and the fraudulent weights returned at the custom house. Probably the higher officials were ignorant of the petty details of the methods by which underweights were returned, but they must have sanctioned a blind expense account from which the frauds were financed. Men rolling in wealth profited in vast sums from the crimes of day laborers who received a bonus of $3 a week for cheating the government by false weights. How then can they claim ignorance and innocence of the gigantic frauds perpetrated in their interest?

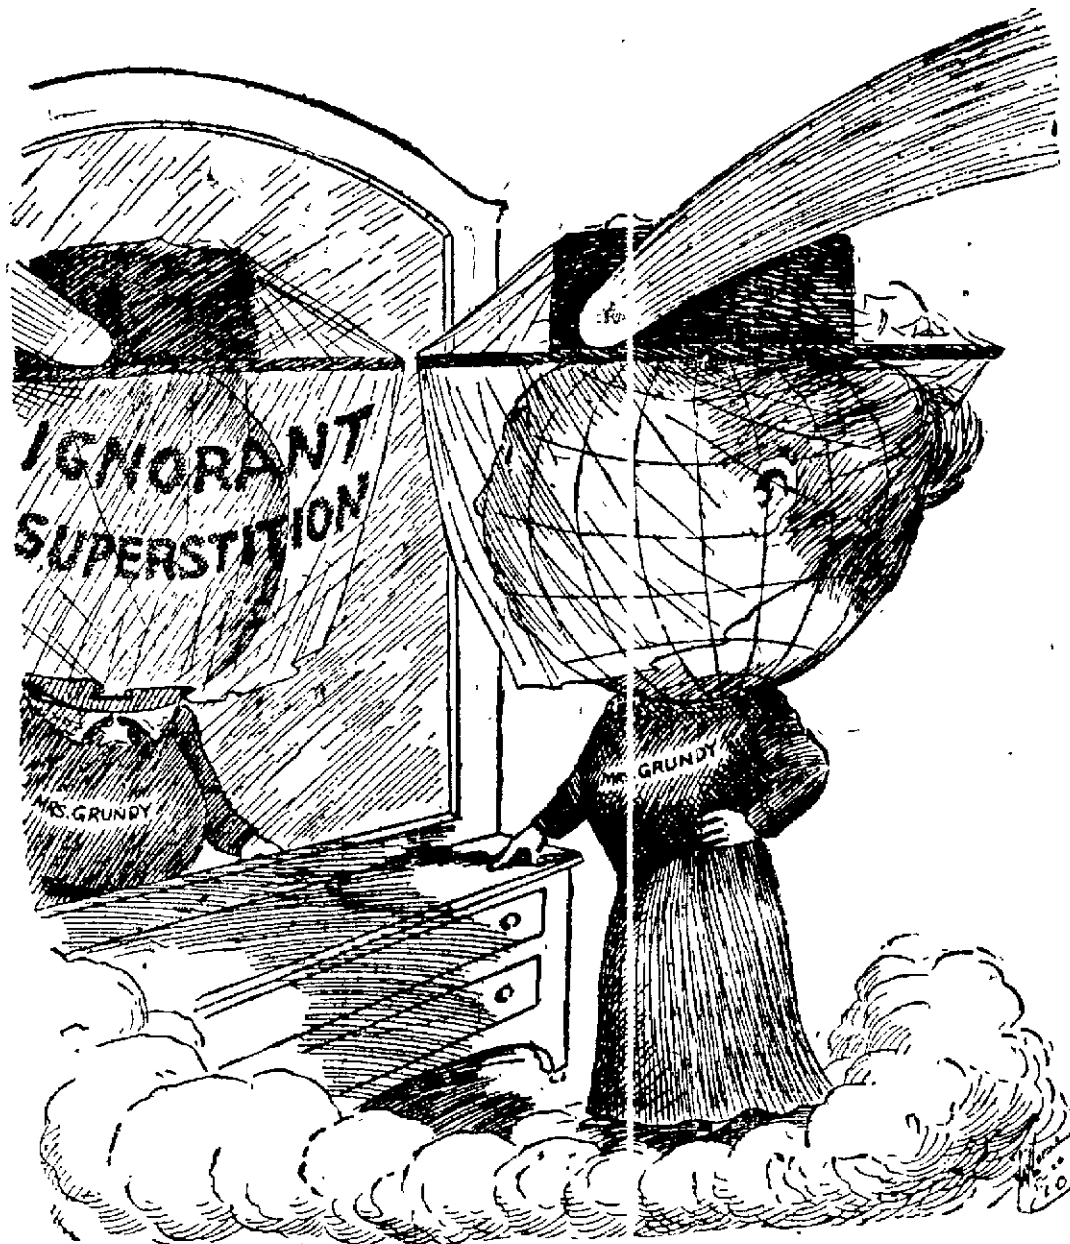

To the pedestrian speed mania appears to be a form of locomotor attack.

Oakland is to have another carnival of noise on the Fourth of July, the Council having voted down the ordinance prohibiting the explosion of fireworks in the street. It is to be hoped that no vain regrets will follow this action—no bad fires and fatal accidents to record as a sequel to the day's festivities. For eight years THE TRIBUNE has advocated safe and sane celebrations on the Fourth of July, but we have not yet succeeded in bringing the authorities to our way of thinking. Nevertheless we are not discouraged, and we are confident that at no distant day a more enlightened public sentiment will enforce regulations to protect life and limb and property from folly and irresponsibility. The Council has bowed to ancient custom—unwillingly we believe—but some time the teachings of humanity and common sense will override a custom that has grown in danger, folly and extravagance with the growth of the republic.

In the Ohio primaries the "Irregulars" were routed. Senator Dick received an endorsement that was practically unanimous, and the regular Republican Congressmen were renominated with a single exception. This is not a flattering men for the kickers in California.

An editorial in a contemporary opens with the statement that "a hired writer" in a rival journal has said so and so. Of all the impudent blarney ever inflicted on the public the phrase "hired writer" is about the worst. The men who use it, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, are themselves hired writers. The hundredth employs hired writers if he can afford to do so and owns a paper of any consequence. All press writers are hired writers. Any person who writes for compensation is a hired writer. All the great editors and journalists living or dead are or were hired writers. Hence the cheap fling of a salaried editor of one paper at the editor or correspondent of another that he is "a hired writer" is an impudent pretension of a hypocrite he spits on his own wages. There are a few newspaper owners who write editorials for their own columns, but even these employ others to write editorials for them. Apart from its function as a news purveyor every journal of the slightest importance is editorially the expression of a policy which is guided by settled conviction as to general principles, but is determined in phases and exigencies by editorial councils that finally evolve a consensus of opinion that is made the voice of the paper. Nearly all the men who participate in these councils are salaried employees—"hired writers"—as they must of necessity be. For a man of this class to fling at others in the same category as a term of reproach the epithet "hired writer" is to betray at once hypocrisy, impudence and vulgar insolence. It is the shabby sneer of a mean mind and low intelligence.

STILL THE WORLD'S REPROACH

—LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES.

PROFANING THE ROSE

A horticulturist of California, where horticulturists are habitually dissatisfied with Nature and seek to baffle her, has so confused the rose bush that it has dropped to the unsightly level of the pea vine and the muskmelon. A climbing rose at Berkeley has produced an edible fruit, simulating the flavor of the pineapple, allied to the loganberry which it will in course of time, we are told, supplant. We assume that this fruit is as free from thorns as the modern, familiar kitchen brand of codfish is free from bones, and perhaps more so. We assume that it is not a prey to the homely and determined rose-bug. We assume that its similarity to the pineapple does not extend to its oppressive taxation of the human digestion.

Such inventions (or perversions) as this, however, we cannot welcome as blessings. In an age of utilitarianism, when the cold and unfeeling motor car has encroached on the field of the poetic though hungry horse, and when the linen ruffia has in some instances given way to the celluloid collar, each additional assault on the temple of unalloyed and useless loveliness must be met with caution and even opposition. The things of life which are yet allowed to remain merely ornamental are already too few. They include the violet, the rubber plant, the angora cat, the canary, the Democratic party and Halley's comet. In time these things, and others, will be taken from us. The rubber plant will produce crabs, the violet will bear berries, comets will run mills and the Democratic party will produce state men. The age of beauty follows swiftly: after the age of chivalry into oblivion, and unrelieved utilitarianism crow in, like a man beating seven women to the only seat in the street car.

About Sleep

The first sleep is the soundest—after the first hour the intensity of sleep slowly diminishes—hence the value of forty winks after dinner in quickly recuperating shattered powers. Temperature and vitality are lowest at about 2 a. m., so that two hours' sleep before midnight are worth four thereafter. Nature has no rule as to the length of sleep, except that men need less than women, since women are the more sensitive creatures, and a woman's heart beats five times more in a minute than a man's. Sleep should be just so long that when you wake in the morning a stretch and a yawn only are necessary to land you in a daytime of bounding vigor. As to early rising, it is comforting to hear Dr. Bryce say it is a habit that has gone far to wreck the constitutions of many a growing youth.—From the London Express.

imitation pineapples from a climbing rose bush? Does the useful though woody pineapple seek to bloom in rose-like gorgeousness? These trifles with fine-garbed Nature are menacing the little altruism left in sunshine and flowers. It is enough that sweet corn has come from a weed, and that we neglect the white flowers to dig the roots from under the potato; enough that we have fallen upon and eaten the ornamental apple of our grandmothers' day; enough that the flowering bean and the sweet pea are less esteemed than the marrowfat and the cranberry, lima, string and kidney; enough that we cast aside the yellow, sunlike blossom to pickle and preserve the hard root of the Jerusalem artichoke; enough that we brutally beat and eat the dried remains of the fragrant flowering buckwheat. Let the rose at least, be free from this taint of the less refined appetite.

It is well enough to pervert the unkempt cactus to food-and-drink uses or to take liberties with the soulless prune, or to issue an official cook book filled with poisonous directions how to make the masses of round steak believe they are the class of porterhouse. Leave the rose to bloom in innocence and inedible distinction. Let the moss rose gather no moss, let the tea rose remain cheering and not inebriating, and let the ramblers ramble, care free and useless.—Boston Advertiser.

Says That Universal Peace Is Remote

Rear Admiral Charles D. Sigbee, U. S. N., retired, in responding to the toast, "Our Navy," at the eighteenth annual banquet and reunion of the New York Alumni Association of Syracuse University, held at the Hotel Brevoort, declared it as his belief that universal peace among the nations of the world would come only as the result of a slow evolution, and that for any one of the world powers to abandon military program at present would mean nothing short of suicide.

It's easy for a man to write a long love letter to a woman—if he isn't married to her.

"We have an example, on the other hand, in China, which desires peace, but which other world powers are forcing into armament. When nations decide to give up the idea of power beyond their boundaries then shall we have universal peace."—New York Herald.

Giving Him Military Title

After describing Mr. Roosevelt as "the first civilian who has reviewed our soldiers," Emperor William turned to his officers yesterday and said: "We are honored in having here today the distinguished Colonel of the Rough Riders." In the eyes of the Kaiser a former Colonel of the Rough Riders may be more distinguished than a former President of the United States, but if the Emperor had felt it necessary to give Mr. Roosevelt some sort of military title he might have referred to him as the former Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States. That is a military rank which a German war lord need hold in no mean esteem, and it has the advantage of having been conferred by the Constitution itself.—New York World.

Topics Timely and Interesting

A doll reception was held last week for the benefit of a charitable institution in which some women wanted their children to take an interest. Children were invited to come and bring their dolls, and these were to be received by the doll hostess and, with her, were finally to be disposed of at auction. The occasion brought out some ingenious creations. The "hostess" was dressed to represent Queen Wilhelmina of Holland. Among the conspicuous figures were a "Teddy" doll astride of an elephant; "Peary," with a piece of the North Pole in his hand; "Dr. Cook," in Esquimaux costume, holding a document marked "This is a gold brick"; "Garrie Nation," several militant suffragettes and many characters from the popular nursery tales. One doll, marked "Our baby's Mary Ann," was of the rag kind and was made by a child five years old. The children each in turn told what the dolls represented and a little lad then acted as auctioneer.

A large collection of papers pertaining to family matters which a New York woman values highly contains this "composition," which was written in 1860 by her brother when the family lived at Albany: the boy being ten years old at the time: "The Prince of Wales is the son of the King of England, and I saw him. He was with his teacher, who is Lord Newcastle. He is not a prince at all, but Lord Renfrew. He was in the Governor's house and there was a big parade. Some day he will be King, but his name will be changed—he will be named Albert. The parade was beautiful, but the prince is only a boy."

"The fact that one of the waiters at a fashionable New York hotel turned out to be the owner of a hotel in Europe, who wore a waiter's uniform for six months in order to acquaint himself with American hotel methods, should not be looked upon as remarkable," said the proprietor of a large restaurant. "The English speaking people are the best hotel patrons in the world, and for many years the waiters in English hotels have been known for their bad English. They have been and are still young men from Germany and France who work for small pay in order to learn the language. The sphere is limited, however, in England, and recently the more ambitious have come to this country. They return to their homes with a knowledge of table d'hôte English and tangible evidence of the Americans' liberality in the way of tips, which even hotel proprietors or their sons in disguise do not despise."

SEEKS REFUGE FROM RUIN IN PRISON TERM

Philippine Veteran Fears Further Attack of the "Red Demon."

PREFERS PRISON LIFE TO ONE OF INTOXICATION

Indifferent to the Offer of Probation--Hides Identity to Protect Friends.

With Frank Harris, veteran of the Philippine insurrection, it appears to be a matter of absolute indifference as to whether he is committed to the penitentiary for attempting to pass a fictitious check or is granted the privilege of probation. He pleaded guilty this morning in the criminal department of the Superior Court to the charge against him, and when, out of deference for his 80 years of age, Judge Brown asked him if he wished to try for probation, the prisoner said:

"I was drunk when I committed the crime, your honor, and I have been a slave to alcohol for nearly a quarter of a century, and you know that a man who has been in the grip of the demon rum for that length of time is more than likely to fall from grace again, no matter what pledge he makes nor how hard he tries to keep his promise."

UP TO COURT.

"If I thought I could keep my probation, I would not care to go to prison, but I cannot feel differently about going to the penitentiary. However, I will leave the whole matter to the best judgment of the court."

HIDES IDENTITY.

Harris told the court that he went to the Philippine Islands with the First California regiment of volunteers in 1895 and afterwards resided there in the Eleventh Cavalry, a Confederate Volunteer. He said that Harris was not his true name and that he preferred to go to prison rather than disclose his identity, and have his friends know of his present predicament.

An application for probation he said, would bring on an investigation of his case that would compel him to tell who he really was and he doubted if the prisoner was not a criminal at heart and believed his story that the fictitious check was the result of his craving for whiskey. He did not think Harris should be sent to the penitentiary if probation was possible, but that in view of what the prisoner himself said on the subject he doubted if there was any alternative other than prison open to him.

REFINED GENTLEMAN.

Harris is a distinguished looking old man and appeared in court as a gentleman and a gentleman accustomed to refinement. The frankness with which he discussed his own condition and his case so impressed Judge Brown that he sent for District Attorney Donahue for a consultation. When the facts had been laid before that official Donahue suggested that a continuance be granted in the case until tomorrow, promising that in the meantime he would have a talk with Harris and see what could be done to keep the prisoner out of the penitentiary.

LARA FIRES ON ESTRADA IN ALL-NIGHT ATTACK

Government Troops Repulsed by Provisionals Near City of Bluefields.

STEAMER VENUS LANDS 500 TROOPS FOR RELIEF

Concerted Attack From Land and Sea Expected by the U. S. Authorities.

BLUEFIELDS, May 24.—General Lara, commanding a force of government troops is today fiercely attacking the provisional government's position at the rear of Bluefields.

The government steamer Venus is landing 500 troops on a lagoon twenty-six miles north of Bluefields for the purpose of attacking the bluff in conjunction with General Lara's force back of Bluefields.

The government troops began their attack last night on the position where the provisionals had entrenched themselves, but they were repulsed and returned to the woods. An artillery fire was kept up all night until dawn this morning, when the attack was resumed.

The American gunboats Paducah and Duquesne are not interfering with the movements of the Venus.

AWAIT INSTRUCTIONS.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—A brief telegram has been received at the State Department from Consul Moffatt at Bluefields, dated yesterday evening, in which he states that General Lara's forces were then attacking the Estrada army, entrenched back of the city.

For several weeks a force of government troops, commanded by General Paulino Godoy, Inspector-General of the Nicaraguan army and General Lara has been within a few miles of the city of Bluefields, awaiting instructions from the United States authorities. It was believed that the delay in issuance of orders to move on Bluefields was for the purpose of enabling General Lara, commanding the Venus, with 500 soldiers on board to reach the port of Bluefields, so a concerted attack from both sea and land might take place.

DECLARE SCHULER WAS NOT INSANE

Witnesses for Proponent in the Will Contest Take Stand for Mrs. Hulse.

When the hearing of the Lorenz E. Schuler will contest was continued this morning, in the probate department of the Superior Court, counsel for Sarah K. Hulse, proponent of the dead brewer's will, introduced witnesses who testified that in their opinion Schuler was of sound mind and capable of transacting business up to the time of his tragic death.

Other witnesses, however, had doubts as to the sanity of Schuler subsequent to the time that he fractured his skull in 1907, while with others were not questioned at all by counsel for the attorney as to the deceased's soundness of mind after the date of the great earthquake, and on their cross-examination he strenuously objected to any questions being asked by Attorney M. C. Hays of San Francisco as to Schuler's mental condition after the year 1906 on the ground that they were not competent to do so.

Counsel for proponent insisted on his objection that it was not cross-examination to inquire as to Schuler's sanity after the year 1906, when his skull was fractured and when he was confined in the sanitarium at Alameda and Livermore.

Boosters for Panama Exposition Say It's Certain San Francisco Will Win the Prize

(From San Francisco Examiner, May 24, 1910.)
Every member of the California delegation that went to Washington in the interests of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is firmly of confidence that there can be but one result of the deliberations now before Congress and that the Queen City of the Pacific will be officially recognized as the site for a World's Fair to be held in 1915 in honor of the Panama canal. It's all over but the shouting, these men think, notwithstanding occasional disquieting rumors from Washington. Of course, there is work to be done. New Orleans, which has put in a rival claim to recognition, has sent out appeals all over her section of the country and is endeavoring to enlist representatives in Congress in her cause; consequently, it behooves the business men of San Francisco to get busy and see that their Eastern connections urge their members of the other end of the continent to see that no injustice is done. San Francisco is the logical site for the exposition, and her claim, doubtless, will be recognized; at the same time, it must not be forgotten that he who has a vote to give dearly loves to be asked to give it.

So, if proper attention is paid to business the result is assured. That is what the members of the California delegation say, and they are the ones who should know, having but recently turned their backs upon the scene of action. It is worth while to hear their individual opinions on the subject, and as they

REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS JOIN IN BACKING THE CLAIMS OF SAN FRANCISCO

By W. E. Dargie.
Publisher of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE.

We are confident that San Francisco will receive the government's endorsement of the exposition. There is a strong feeling among Republicans and Democrats alike in favor of San Francisco. The whole West favors San Francisco. There is no doubt about the ultimate success of our trip to Washington.

Speaker Cannon's support of San Francisco assures us the help of the regular. Every member of the California delegation in the Senate and the House was out at work canvassing for San Francisco.

I cannot help referring to the excellent efforts of Governor Gillett, former Secretary of the State, and Judge Henshaw. They are entitled to great credit for their labors in favor of San Francisco while in Washington.

The President treated the California delegation with more consideration than any other delegation that ever visited the White House. We called upon him first and then went his guests at dinner and were received with all courtesy.

New Orleans is making a strong fight for the exposition, but has not a leg to stand on. Notwithstanding that San Francisco is practically assured of governmental co-operation every Californian who has a friend in Congress should telegraph him to work for San Francisco.

We must work until the last vote is counted. At the hearing before the House committee a member from Louisiana asked that the matter go over until his State could be heard from and it was then suggested that when New Orleans presents her claims every other city that desires to bid for the exposition present its case. The committee set a date two weeks ahead to hear the representatives of the Louisiana city.

We asked for no financial aid. We sought only that the President and Congress invite the foreign nations to be represented. Everything that the delegation did in Washington was determined upon after a conference among all the members of the committee. Everything was considered with the greatest care, and every step taken was the result of deliberation.

EXPECTS EUROPE TO SEND SHIPLOADS OF VISITORS THROUGH CANAL TO FAIR

By M. F. Tarpey.
Prominent Vineyardist of Fresno.

The people of California can be assured that the Panama-Pacific Exposition will be held in San Francisco. We will get the Congressional endorsement either at this session or the next. I have no doubt of this.

I believe that it is not too great a flight of fancy to picture great steamers enbarking excursionists at European ports for passage to San Francisco and the exposition on the canal. The travelers who come by the canal will for the most part return by rail, while those who come by rail will return by the canal, and the benefit to be derived by all the Western country will be incalculable.

On our way to Washington we perfected our plans of procedure and agreed that Governor Gillett, Judge Henshaw and former Secretary of the Navy McCall should make the representations for us at the exposition in the canal. We determined to ask no financial aid, as Congress has indicated that it will not vote appropriation on account of the failure of New Orleans to fulfill obligations contracted in 1884.

We came to the conclusion that we would ask the government merely to extend to foreign nations an invitation to be represented at the fair.

Following our interview with the President we were his guests at dinner. Speaker Cannon said that he was in favor of San Francisco and Congressmen at dinner congratulated Governor Gillett on his exposition of San Francisco's right to the fair and said they were convinced of that this is the logical city.

We were joined by Mr. Hearst on Friday and made our formal presentation to the President. The dinner was on the following Wednesday, and the President expressed his good will and said San Francisco was his place for the exposition.

Even those Congressmen who were advocating other places, said that our arguments were convincing and gave us assurances of friendship. I am convinced we will see the navies of the world passing through the canal to San Francisco and a great fleet of passenger carriers bringing travelers to this port.

In all my experience I have never known a delegation with such a unanimity of spirit as the one which went to Washington to urge San Francisco's claims.

Julia Paulme Again Makes Attempt to Die

Demented Berkeley Girl Endeavors to Hang Herself at the Stockton Asylum.

BERKELEY, May 24.—No sooner had Julia Paulme, the West Berkeley girl who has twice tried to stab members of the police department when they attempted to take her into custody, been taken to the Stockton asylum than she for the second time tried to take her life.

Her method was the same used in the former case at the Oakland receiving hospital. She carefully tore her bed clothing into strips and, fastening the line to the top of the door, hanged herself by the neck.

The asylum attendants who happened to be passing discovered her body in time to cut her down and save her life.

The insane girl declared that she would end her life in spite of the vigilance of the authorities. She was taken to the asylum, where she had been confined before, but a few days ago.

reach home the Examiner proposes that the public shall know what they have to say.

So far but five have landed in San Francisco. These are: W. L. Gerstie, president of the Chamber of Commerce; F. W. Henshaw, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of California; William E. Dargie, publisher of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE; M. F. Tarpey, the widely known vineyardist of Fresno; T. Cary Friedlander, secretary of the Merchants' Exchange, and E. C. Cooper, private secretary to Governor Gillett. They are all enthusiastic Mr. Friedlander has two things to say that are of special importance. He asserts, for instance, that after the banquet at the White House at which President Taft entertained the visiting delegation from California the nation's chief executive drew Senator Perkins aside and made him give the Californians "something good in the way of news to take home with them." Furthermore, Mr. Friedlander expresses the opinion that but for New Orleans demanding from Congress the courtesy of a hearing, matters today would be in a much farther advanced stage than they are; otherwise, he attaches no great importance to the present situation.

This serves to show how matters stand in the view of the gentlemen who undertook the trip to Washington in San Francisco's behalf. Their interviews speak for themselves.

NEW ORLEANS' GREAT FEDERAL DEBT SPOILS HER CHANCES FOR EXPOSITION

By Frederick W. Henshaw.
Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

I was astonished at the success we met twenty-four hours after our arrival in Washington. Speaker Cannon declared in favor of San Francisco. Mr. Payne indicated his position. Mr. Dwight, the Republican whip of the House, endorsed our arguments, and the President was outspoken in his approbation of our plans.

There is no doubt in my mind about the governmental endorsement. The joint resolution may not be called up at this session, as it was introduced so late it cannot be considered unless under a suspension of the rules. However, it will come before Congress at the next session in December and before the same members. In either contingency there is no doubt about San Francisco's success.

New Orleans has no chance. New Orleans owes the government more than $1,000,000 for her fair in 1884, and not one dollar of the principal or interest has been paid. Then, too, this exposition was a failure, and the government had to come to the aid of New Orleans with a gift of $350,000 to enable her to strike off the medals she awarded and to save her face with the foreign nations. It goes without saying that New Orleans is not looked upon with favor at Washington.

We asked no financial aid and told the members of Congress that we were able to finance the exposition here. Besides this, one of our potent arguments was based on the opportunity the visitors to the fair would have to see the canal. Great excursion steamers from Europe would be put out to sea, and the route of the fair would be a Pacific ocean enterprise, for the development of the commerce of the Pacific and to add to the mobility of our fleet. No country east of the Mississippi is well fitted and that the world from these crowded sections belongs to the western slope and not to Canada, where much of it has been going. A world's exposition here would compel the thousands of visitors from Europe and the Eastern States to cross the continent, and this would not only convey an impression of magnificent distances, but also the realization that here in the West are opportunities unequalled for investment and home-making.

If, as a rival city claims, San Francisco is out of touch with the rest of the United States, then let the United States government put us in touch by granting us this privilege of holding a great international exposition. That is all we ask of Congress. We ask no money; we can furnish that ourselves. In spite of the disaster of 1906 San Francisco is and always will be the great clearing-house for the business of the West, and there will be no difficulty in raising another five millions right here.

GIVE THEM SOME GOOD NEWS TO TAKE HOME, SAID THE PRESIDENT TO PERKINS

By T. Carey Friedlander.
Secretary of the Merchants' Exchange.

Before leaving Washington the members of the California delegation were practically sure of a favorable decision from Congress. We felt that our work was done; otherwise we would have remained until matters had been settled one way or the other. The fate of San Francisco now rests in the hands of the resident California delegates to Congress, who may be trusted to look carefully after her interests.

We received the greatest possible encouragement during our sojourn in the nation's capital. Of course you have heard how President Taft openly declared in favor of San Francisco, diplomatically suggesting that two expositions be held, but unofficially stating his judgment that if it were to be but one international exposition it should go to the metropolis of the West. Well, I think I can add to that something that has not yet been published, I believe. It occurred to me one evening when the California delegation were entertained at dinner at the White House by President Taft. I have it on the authority of Senator Perkins that when dinner was over and we were about to take our leave the President took the senior Senator from California aside and said to him:

"Now, Senator, I want you to see that these men have something good in the way of news to take home with them."

I believe I quote Senator Perkins exactly. When I heard that, I made up my mind that San Francisco was just about programmed to secure the exposition. Our claims to recognition were conceded, and it was just a question of time. In fact, I today believe that had not New Orleans demanded a hearing as a courtesy, our cause would be further advanced than it is. That is how strongly I feel upon the matter, and it shows how confident I am of a successful result from our negotiations in Washington.

San Francisco's claim to be recognized as the logical site for the proposed international exposition has been gone over many times. Her best argument is that as a city she is the metropolis of an undeveloped country; that the country east of the Mississippi is well fitted and that the world from these crowded sections belongs to the western slope and not to Canada, where much of it has been going. A world's exposition here would compel the thousands of visitors from Europe and the Eastern States to cross the continent, and this would not only convey an impression of magnificent distances, but also the realization that here in the West are opportunities unequalled for investment and home-making.

If, as a rival city claims, San Francisco is out of touch with the rest of the United States, then let the United States government put us in touch by granting us this privilege of holding a great international exposition. That is all we ask of Congress. We ask no money; we can furnish that ourselves. In spite of the disaster of 1906 San Francisco is and always will be the great clearing-house for the business of the West, and there will be no difficulty in raising another five millions right here.

Former Carnegie Chief Dies of Pneumonia

NEW YORK, May 24.—Chas. Carter Dickerson, former president of the Carnegie Trust company, and well known millionaire and author, died here today of pneumonia.

Girls' Walking Club in Schools Popular

NEW YORK, May 24.—Walking as an exercise for public school girls has been so successfully experimented with in New York High Schools and grammar grades that next month the board of estimates is to be asked for an appropriation for extending the indoor physical training curriculum to all of doors.

Most of the high schools and a number of the elementary schools have walking clubs for girls and teachers give their Saturdays to chaperoning companies of from thirty to forty girls on walks of from two to five miles in parks and environs of New York.

The children of the elementary schools take two-mile walks, while the high school girls, after a preliminary work, are taken on the five-mile trips.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—Police Judge Deady yesterday held Charles E. Huddleston for trial in the Superior Court on a charge of murdering Charles L. Cochran by stabbing him a third time and Clement street on May 8. Both men were painters.

RIOT BREAKS OUT IN COAL MINE; MANY INJURED

Sheriff and Trooper Severely Hurt by the Striking Workers.

ITALIANS IN FRENZY ATTACK STATE POLICE

Soldiers Called Out and Quell Uprising--Tieup Is Spreading.

SCRANTON, Pa., May 24.—A riot broke out among striking miners at No. 14 colliery of the Pennsylvania Coal Company near Dutton today, following an attempt of a posse of state police, headed by Sergeant Hennessey, to disperse a crowd of Italians who threatened others when a work train reached the colliery.

Sheriff Rodda of Luzerne county hurried to the colliery and was shot at, but escaped after receiving a bad scalp wound. One man was so badly clubbed that he may die.

State Trooper Jasper of Tiedah was caught under his horse, which was felled by a blow on the head, and was badly clubbed before other troopers drove off his assailants. The riot was finally quelled and another one broke out at the Bowen colliery, a mile away. The rioters there dispersed when troopers arrived.

SPREAD TO BUTLER.

The strike spread today to the Butler, the Hillside and the Central collieries of the Pennsylvania Coal Company, leaving only the Ennum mine of that company in the Pittston district at work. Already 10,000 mine workers are involved, the trouble beginning several days ago, with the men striking at No. 3 colliery because of alleged excessive dockage and short weighing.

The board of conciliation of the United Mine Workers met in session yesterday and approved the strike.

Wheat Market Exhibits a Lull in Prospect of a Storm.

CHICAGO Mar. 24—It was like a salt-bitten sea the acts today in the wheat market. There was a selling by the speculators, the worst so conspicuous on that side of trading since day but not enough to seem hardly a return on an echo. The buying was scattered, it came chiefly from farmers on houses. Bears were busy in the second week of the month, on a basis but not in the week after the price decline. In the last few days the bill to devalue had reached a million where serious fighting
